TimberTech® Receives CCRR Code Listings

XLM® and RadianceRail® Latest to Pass Code Accreditation

Wilmington, Ohio – July 28, 2009 - A Code Compliance Research Report (CCRR) provides the evidence, technical information, and professional evaluation that building officials rely upon to determine that a product, component, or method of construction complies with a specified code. TimberTech's XLM received its latest building code listing CCRR-0139 and RadianceRail received CCRR-0114.

XLM, extreme low-maintenance, is TimberTech's all PVC deck board that provides customers unparalleled scratch, stain and mildew resistance resulting in more enjoyment and less maintenance. XLM is offered in three long-lasting colors –RiverRock, SandRidge and Desert Bronze – and is available in 12', 16' and 20' lengths as well as matching 12" fascia and 7 ¼" stair riser in 12' lengths. All are backed with an industry-leading 25-year limited residential warranty.

RadianceRail is the industry-leading composite railing system that does not have exposed hardware. RadianceRail comes in Coastal White, Classic Black, SandRidge, RiverRock and Mountain Cedar and is available in both 6' and 8' kits that provide all of the components necessary for straight rail sections, angled rail sections and stair rail sections. Additional items, including Post Cover, Post Cap and Post Skirt, are available separately.

CCRR reports are accepted by local and regional code officials nationwide because products are validated through qualified independent quality assurance. This is the equivalent of an Evaluation Service Report (ESR) issued by the ICC-ES and is fully supported by Architectural Testing Inc. (ATI) for national recognition.
